OCULISTS, FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY.
WILL GIVE THEIR UNDIVIDED ATTENTION TO DISEASES OF THE EYES.

OCULISTS.
WE the undersigned citizens, of Frankfort, Ky.
were on the 25th of October last called upon by J. B. Gentry, to examine four patients who were afflicted with sore eyes of the most virulent character and who were about to be placed under his treatment for their recovery. We did so examine them, and found them afflicted in the most deplorable manner; their eyes were dim and shadowy in their appearance, and they seemed to suffer the most intense and excruciating pain the disease having existed with some of them as far back as four years, preventing them from attending to any business during that period. We have been authorized by those patients to certify that in the incredible short time of four weeks that they are well, and that we cannot certify in language too strong and forcible the gratitude they feel for the immense benefit they have derived from the scientific manner in which Dr. Gentry has treated their diseases. We therefore recommend him to the patronage of all afflicted in like manner.

FRANKFORT.

WILLIAM L. CALLENDER, Editor.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1854.

Extra copies of the DAILY COMMONWEALTH, put up in single wrappers, can be had at this office, at the rate of $2 per hundred. Members of the Legislature wishing to get papers, will please leave their orders on the day before the issue of the number of the paper they wish.

THE DIGEST READY.—Both volumes of Monroe & Harlan's Digest are now ready, and can be obtained at this office, at $12 per set of two volumes.

Persons wishing to hire a smart negro girl, some 13 years old, may hear of one by applying at this office.

TRIBUTE TO THE MEMORY OF HENRY CLAY.—It will be seen by the Legislative proceedings, that appropriate resolutions were unanimously adopted yesterday, in both Houses of the General Assembly, in honor of the memory of HENRY CLAY.

While they were pending in the Senate brief speeches were made by Messrs. D. HOWARD SMITH, WOLFE, MACHEN and GOLLAUD; and after they were reported to the House, by Messrs. HUNT, RATES, EVE, JONES of Campbell, BORN, KING, DENLAP and MOREHEAD.

Three of the speeches will be found in our paper to-day; the others will probably appear to-morrow and next day. We have no room to remark upon them in detail, nor would it perhaps be proper. They were all eloquent, and some of them of surpassing appropriateness and beauty.

Benton's Thirty Years in the Senate.

From the admission of Missouri into the Union until March 3d, 1851, THOMAS H. BENTON was without interruption one of our Senators in Congress, and always a man of mark among the eminent men who held the same high position. His long experience in public affairs, his intercourse and intimacy with the distinguished men who have been upon the stage of national politics in that long period, his habits of enquiry and laborious and thorough research, joined with his tenacious memory, made him in all the latter part of his career second to no one in Congress, unless perhaps John Quincy Adams, for the extent, minuteness and accuracy of his historical and biographical knowledge, especially in regard to his own country. He is a man of strong feelings, not undisturbed by prejudice, but still animated by a pervading love of right and justice as he understands them; of great energy of character; firm, not to say stubborn of purpose; decidedly independent in thought and action; of high though not the highest intellectual capacity, and of a very considerable share of literary ability and skill. Such are the qualifications which Col. Benton brought to the composition of his book which is now going through the press. It cannot fail to be a work of rare interest. Some of its facts may be probable will be tinged by his own peculiarities and prejudices; still we doubt not the book will be scrupulously truthful in the main, and absorbingly interesting throughout. It is said to contain speeches, and extracts and abstracts of speeches, of eminent statesmen, selections from the private papers of Gen. Jackson, historical notes and illustrations, notices of eminent deceased co-temporaries, together with all Col. Benton's own speeches, and his portrait. It will be completed in two volumes containing about 700 octavo pages, and sold exclusively by subscription. Price $2.50, to be paid on the delivery of the work early in April.

Mr. W. E. Hutchings, sole agent, is now canvassing this city and county, and will receive the names of those who desire to obtain the work.

We much regret to learn that by a recent fire at Paducah, our friend Mr. McCARTY, of the Paducah Journal, had his dwelling house consumed, upon which there was no insurance. It is a heavy and embarrassing loss to the enterprising and sprightly editor of that good Whig paper, and we hope that his appeal to his friends to come to his aid by settling up arrears, and paying in advance for another year's subscription, and by sending him in new subscribers, will be responded to "in the only mode," as Mr. Guthrie would say, "that will carry conviction with it."

WESTERN TEACHERS ADVOCATE AND FAMILY EDUCATOR.—We have received several copies of a new semi-monthly publication bearing this title, just commenced at Louisville by Hull & Brothers and edited by Edward Cooper. The number before us contains 16 broad pages, and we presume this is to be the size of each succeeding one. A hasty glance through it impresses us very favorably, and we invite to it the attention of our friends who feel specially interested in the cause it purports to sustain. Terms, $2 per year in advance.

THE NEBRASKA BILL.—It appears by the telegraph reports that Senator Douglas, on Monday last, proposed another modification of this bill—viz: to strike out from the section referring to the Missouri Compromise the following words: "Which was superseded by the legislation of 1850, commonly called the Compromise measures;" and insert the following in place thereof: "Which being inconsistent with the principles of non-intervention by Congress with slavery in the States and Territories as commonly recognized by the legislation of 1850, commonly called the compromise measures, is hereby declared inoperative and void, it being the intention of this act not to legislate slavery into any Territory or State, nor to exclude it therefrom, but to leave the people thereof perfectly free to form and regulate their domestic institutions in their own way, subject only to the constitution of the United States."

Such at least appears to be the proposed amendment, as well as we can extricate it from the tangled language of the despatches. Mr. EVERETT was to speak the next day.

FIRE IN RICHMOND, KENT.—The Lexington Statesman learns by a gentleman from Richmond, Ky., that a fire had broken out in Gilbert's hardware store, opposite the Webster House, and that the entire block, embracing 18 houses, was consumed. Holloway's dry goods store, Wherrett's jewelry store and residence, S. K. Turner's dry goods store, Farley & Taylor's wholesale grocery, and Ball's saddlery were among the buildings burned.

Decision of Judge Duval on the Newport Ferry Case.

We have already published a full and accurate statement of the questions involved in this case, and of the chief points of Judge Duval's decision of them. Since then Judge D. has furnished the following abstract of his opinion to the Louisville Courier, and we transfer it to our columns for the benefit of our friends of the profession:

TAYLOR & AIRS vs. PETER CONWAY AND OTHERS.—Held by the Court:

1. That the "esplanade" in Newport, between the lots and the river is not public property, for public use exclusively, but that the title thereto is in the devisees of James Taylor.

2. That as incident to such title, they have the exclusive right to the ferry between Newport and Cincinnati, together with all other rights not incompatible with the right of common, to which alone the city of Newport is entitled.

3. That these questions were conclusively settled by the decision of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, in the case of the Trustees of Newport vs. Jas. Taylor, (6 T. J. Marshall), and the city of Newport vs. Taylor's heirs, (11 B. Mon.).

4. That those decisions bind the present defendants, claiming, as they now do, under a lease from the City Council of Newport, who are the successors and representatives of those who were parties to the two suits mentioned.

5. That the principles settled in those cases have not been overruled by subsequent decisions of the same court, because the law in 11 B. Mon. was decided since the cases in 8 B. Mon., and 9 B. Mon., relied upon as overruling them, and expressly re-affirms the matters settled in the law in 6 T. J. Marshall, upon the ground that the latter decision is binding, even upon that court.

6. That conceding to the city of Newport the right of wharfage, as claimed by them, such right could only extend to the use of the wharf as a landing for boats engaged in the usual and regular commerce and navigation of the river, and could confer no power to use it as a landing for a ferry boat, such latter use being inconsistent with the exclusive ferry franchise of Taylor.

7. That the laws of Kentucky establishing and regulating ferries across the Ohio river, do not conflict with the clauses of the Federal Constitution granting to Congress the power "to regulate commerce among the several States," nor with the laws of Congress, and are not, therefore, void as to those defendants.

8. That the laws respecting ferries, turnpike roads, toll bridges, quarantine and other health laws are matters of State policy, and are properly within the control and jurisdiction of the States.

9. That although such laws may do and effect foreign commerce as well as commerce among the States, yet they are not commercial regulations within the spirit and meaning of the constitution of laws of the United States.

10. That the exercise, by the States, of power over this class of subjects, both before and since the adoption of the federal constitution, and the long and uninterrupted acquiescence in it by the Federal Government and by the people, affords a persuasive, if not conclusive argument in favor of the right of the States as thus claimed and exercised.

11. That no decision, or even dictum, of any court, either State or federal, is to be found in support of the alleged unconstitutionality of the laws of the States respecting ferries, but that the cases relied on by the defendants, and especially the great case of Gibbons vs. Ogden (9 Wheat.), 1 sustain the opposite doctrine, that those laws are constitutional; that they do not violate or interfere with the free navigation of the river, as secured by the acts of Congress; that "so far from meriting the epithet of commercial regulations, they are, in fact, commercial facilities, for which, by the consent of mankind, a compensation is paid, upon the same principle that the whole commercial world submit to pay light money to the lighthouses." (9 Wheat. 235, 293. See also the argument of Mr. Webster, reported with the law.) No distinction is made between ferries and turnpikes, toll bridges, and the like, and those separating two or more States.

12. That an injunction is the only appropriate and efficient remedy, and is therefore awarded.

CAPITAL HOTEL, Frankfort, February 7, 1854.

To the Editor of the Commonwealth:

In your paper of this morning you publish, by request, several articles as they appeared in the Daily News, published at Newport, which articles do great injustice to the people of that city as a community, as well as to individuals, and which I desire to correct.

The object in the request to have these articles appear in your paper, at this time, is manifest—it can be for no other than to cause a feeling against the city in the minds of the members of the Legislature, which would result to the prejudice of her interests, before she could be heard in her own defense. She asks nothing that she does not merit; nothing that every citizen of the Commonwealth has not a right to, and nothing that the laws and decisions of our courts will not justify the Legislature in granting.

The sentiments in the articles in the News of Jan. 30th and 31st, are not the sentiments of the people of Newport, but are as freely and as fully repudiated by them, as by any other portion of the citizens of this State.

In the report, by the News, of the meeting which was held on Monday the 30th ult., there is a little of correctness that it can hardly be regarded as intended for that occasion. The chairman is made to state the object of the meeting to be "to express indignation at the decision rendered by Judge Duval." Those who are personally acquainted with his honor Mayor Fearson, who presided, know too well his respect for our laws and officers, as well as his sense of propriety, to hesitate a moment to deny that he would not have allowed the meeting to be held on Monday the 30th ult., and that he would not have allowed the meeting to be held on Monday the 30th ult., and that he would not have allowed the meeting to be held on Monday the 30th ult.

Mr. Root then, in his masterly manner, pronounced an eulogy on Judge Duval, which was loudly and heartily applauded, without a dissenting voice. He then continued detailing the progress of the suit to which the city is a party, and commended the people to persevere, by all lawful and proper means, in the prosecution, until our rights, long lost, shall be given back by the highest court in our State, or if necessary, by the Supreme Court of the United States.

As Mr. Root concluded, an effigy of one of the members of our City Council was brought in, by some persons unknown and unconnected with the meeting, which was dangled in the air a few moments, and then thrust in the fire. The meeting had no knowledge of the preparation of the effigy, neither can those who participated at the meeting be held justly responsible for it. Since my arrival here, I have heard it rumored that an effigy was prepared for the Judge, I heard no such intimation at home—nothing of the kind was done, these reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

The meeting was the largest ever assembled in our city, and for the purpose of expressing their sentiments in regard to questions of public interest. Who is there to question that right? The resolutions as published by you were read, and one by one unanimously adopted.

ted as the sense of the citizens of Newport; and we heartily desire that all should take them, unconnected with the report, or the sentiments of the "Kentucky News," and by them judge whether or not the epithets "Mob," "Abolitionists," "Agrarians," "Rioters," etc., which have been so lavishly heaped upon us.

HENRY K. LINDSEY.

For the Commonwealth.

ME. EDITOR: I signed a remonstrance touching the bill now pending before the Legislature, amending the city charter, and prefixed a qualification, whereby my objections to said bill were confined to that portion thereof conferring "penal and civil" jurisdiction upon the Mayor.

I am made to appear as opposing the passage of the bill "in its present form," in a printed remonstrance of to-day, by which the extent of my opposition is misunderstood. I am of opinion that it is right and proper that the Legislature should afford every proper facility to the Council of this city to enable them to discharge the liabilities incurred on all accounts. I make this explanation for my own satisfaction.

JAMES MONROE.

GRANT OF LANDS FOR RAILROADS IN MINNESOTA. A bill passed the Senate on Tuesday granting $200,000 acres of land for the construction of Railroads in Minnesota.

A GOON PEN.—The Big Sandy News is responsible for the following:

An exchange says that Hon. Henry A. Wise has recently married. To any dear bachelor friend still "halting between two opinions" we say "go and do like Wise."

CHEAP PAINT.—For the outside of dwellings, and out-houses, where economy and durability are considerations. Take a barrel, and put in it a bushel of quick lime; slack the latter by pouring over it boiling water—covering the time four inches deep, and stirring it till slacked; dissolve two lbs. of sulphate of zinc (white vitriol) in water, which must be added to the whitewash. This will harden the lime when it is applied to the wood, leaving a firm white crystalline surface. To make the wash a cream color, add 4 lbs. of yellow ochre; for a fawn, 1 lb. of number, and 1 lb. of lampblack; stone color, 1 lb. of number and 2 lbs. of lampblack.
